February 2013 Newsletter

FEBRUARY - President's Month and election of officers! We meet VALENTINE'S DAY - Thursday the 14th at noon - at de Anza Country Club.

Variety is the spice of the Art Guild and this month's presenter "fits the bill." Another one of our talented members, Terri Zumstein, creates photo books with text, photos and designer backgrounds. Terri, whose family-owned business is Quality Printing in San Diego, recently moved to Borrego Springs to write her first novel, The Stewardess Diaries. The book is based on her past experiences as a TWA Stewardess. Terri will explain how Art Guild members can have their own printed autobiography and/or memoir book (from 20 – 100 pages), hard or soft bound. Write your story or tell it to Terri and she'll write it for you. Personalize it with your photos and "tah-dah" you have a wonderful gift to share with friends and family. Terri will bring along examples of her coffee table books and special occasion books. Also of interest is the Writers' Retreat she holds at her Ram's Hill home - visit www.writersretreat.com.

The business meeting will include installation of the new officers, recognition of former Art Guild Presidents and long-time members and the announcement of the Member of the Year.

January's presentation on cartooning by Saul Miller turned out to be a cartoon in itself! When the power went out, a series of comedic events occurred including the fits of laughter from our own petite President, Beth Hart, as she was handed a huge bull horn to use in place of her usual microphone. Then three members of the male sex - straight from a Keystone Cops episode - quickly hooked up a generator. Saul went on to do a brilliant job of entertaining us with funny cartoons as well as explaining the connection between Art and Cartooning. Samples of our own attempts at cartooning can be view on the second page of the Newsletter, thanks to Cathy Westover and her iPhone.
